

THE WORTHLESS SON-IN-LAWS

“Sort of Back to Having a Life”

Southern Americana/indie-rock from the mountains of Western North Carolina.

“Beautiful pop hooks and melodies wrapped in twang, reminiscent of The Jayhawks best stuff...love this record!”--Warren Catlett, RadioFreeAmericana.com

“The Worthless Son-In-Laws play some of the most catchy, melodically advanced roots pop around.”--High Country Press

“I think that the hot new bands for 2007 [include]...the Worthless Son-in-Laws.... They’ve all just knocked my socks off.”--Claire Armbruster, Music Director, Merlefest

“The Worthless Son-in-Laws fuse their laid-back roots sound with the jangle-pop sounds of NC band the dB’s and Chris Stamey, while also recalling Son Volt and possibly a hint of the Decemberists.”--Shout Magazine

“Sonically, the band draws from among a cauldron of alt-country heroes, early indie-pop bands, and traditional country and old-time songs. Some of the band’s most notable influences include The Jayhawks, Son Volt, R.E.M., The Carter Family, and Gram Parsons. Davidson possesses a keen sense of melody and an innate ability to create dense, detailed narratives...while Brown’s songs chug along with a laid-back Southern style....”--High Country Press

“One of the High Country’s premiere alternative country bands.”--Mountain Times

Recommended tracks:

1. Linville Creek
2. Down
3. Road to Ruleville

Musical references: dB’s, Jayhawks, Son Volt, Wilco, REM, Vic Chesnutt, Decemberists

Personnel:

Jimmy Davidson: acoustic guitar/vocals
Rob Brown: electric guitar/vocals
Rich Crepeau: bass/vocals
Aaron Cummings: drums

web site: www.soninlaws.com

myspace: www.myspace.com/worthlesssoninlaws

contact: booking@soninlaws.com

The Worthless Son-in-Laws’ CD Sort of Back to Having a Life is available at independent record stores, iTunes, BandVillage.com, and CDBaby.com

Thanks for listening.

